“ I remember Diane always laughing and being very hospitable when we visited her and Raleigh at their home. She always had some kind of treat ready to share with us! She shared stories of what it was like when Raleigh was in the service and she was home waiting for him. She talked about life where she grew up (although I don't remember exactly where that was) and how cold it was there, but she spoke very fondly of it. I remember one particular time when Raleigh was "trying" to be clever Diane looked at me and said "Marie after all these years his jokes aren't funny anymore". It makes me smile to remember that.

God bless you Diane..
