“ My condolences to the friends and family of my childhood friend Bob. He was my friend from the time I could walk, and lives in my fondest childhood memories. We played, laughed, fought, made up, and was influential in my love of music. Though it's been forty years since we lost touch with each other, his death is profoundly affecting me. My wife recently contacted him via Facebook, and he shared a memory of me with her. I have since been trying to think of what I might say to him, thinking in the near future we might talk and catch up, but alas. You always think there's time. Requiescat in pace my friend, I'm so sorry I missed my opportunity. Because you're their father, your children must be awesome human beings, and I cannot imagine your dear wife's burden of grief. I will never forget you.

*They are waiting to take us into the severed garden
You know how pale, wanton, thrillful comes death
In the strange hour
Unannounced, unplanned for
Like a scaring, over friendly guest you bought to bed*

*Death makes angels of us all and gives us wings
Where we had shoulders smooth as ravens claws*

*No more money, no more fancy dress
This other kingdom seems by far the best
Until it's other jaw reveals incest
And loose obedience to a vegetable law*

*I will not go
Prefer a feast of friends to the giant family*

“ I met Bob when I lived in Farmington, MI 40 Years ago. He had just graduated from Michigan State University and I hired him to teach me how to play Tennis. We became good friends from day one.

Later that year he went to live in Phoenix, Arizona, and a year after that I travelled to Arizona and we took a camping tour of Arizona, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, California, and New Mexico.

He later returned to Detroit, met his wife, Phyllis, at Messiah Christian Fellowship in Detroit in which I was a leader, was married by Dick Bieber at Messiah Lutheran Church, and the reception was held at my first home in Detroit.

I will miss Bob but am happy he gave his life to Jesus. In the end that is all that matters. I will continue to pray for Phyllis and the family for God's peace, strength, and consolation.

Maranatha, my friend,
Mike Martin Detroit, MI
